a stipend-savings housing plan for new mexico's traveling clinicians

the deepest sleep in real estate

• THE IDEA

house the state's traveling clinicians for less than their stipend.

travel nurses and clinicians are paid a federal housing stipend, capped at the gsa lodging per diem for their assignment's location. price a furnished, utilities-included mid-term rental under that cap and three things happen at once: the clinician banks the difference tax-free, the landlord earns a premium over an unfurnished long-term lease, and siesta gets a near-zero-default, stipend-backed payer to underwrite guaranteed rent against.

albuquerque • bernalillo

$144 / night

flat year-round • monthly housing cap ≈ $4,320

santa fe • santa fe county

$167 / night

peak & shoulder • dips to $122 jan-feb • cap ≈ $5,010

the wedge: nothing in new mexico shows a traveler their savings against the stipend at the point of booking. that single number — "$1,900 a month in your pocket, tax-free" — is the whole pitch.

gsa fy2026 lodging per diem. m&ie (meals & incidentals) is a separate $80/day stipend and is not housing — rent is measured only against the lodging line. monthly caps use a 30-day basis; agencies convert the daily rate to weekly or monthly.

who pays vs. who's the product. the landlord is the customer — fees, furnishing, and the guarantee are billed to them. the traveler is the most valuable supply in the state (curated, licensed, stipend-backed) but is never billed a renter fee. most valuable to attract ≠ most valuable to bill.

$3,000	$2,010	$6,030

rents are furnished, utilities-included, 30-day minimum. against albuquerque's unfurnished long-term comps ($1,250–$1,950), furnished mid-term lands a +40–70% premium to the landlord — while still leaving the traveler well ahead.

scarce, curated, licensed demand — met near the hospital door.

demand · the four anchor systems

SYSTEM	WHY THE TRAVEL DEMAND IS THERE
unm hospital	state's only level i trauma + academic center — steady high-acuity contracts, plus residents, fellows & rotating students needing 1–3 mo landing pads
presbyterian	largest private system in nm, a major travel-nurse employer — highest steady volume
lovelace (ardent)	multi-campus across abq — demand distributed across sites
raymond g. murphy va	va staffing-channel travelers + relocating federal clinicians adjacent demand: permanent-staff relocations, locum physicians, allied-health travelers (rad / resp / pt / ot), visiting faculty.

supply · the landlord is the customer

- recruit near the anchors. siesta landlords with units within ~10–15 min of a hospital, offered furnished, utilities-included, 30-day minimum.
- model a (first): landlord owns; siesta furnishes, manages, and places — with an optional guaranteed-rent wrap. lowest capital, fastest to prove.
- model b (later): siesta master-leases and sublets furnished for higher margin — more capital and risk; defer until the payer data is in.
- turnkey furnishing plugs into the existing adu / tiny-house contractor network for fast, consistent setups.

meet travelers where they already look — and stay honest.

channels

- furnished finder — the dominant travel-nurse housing marketplace (100k+ travelers, 30-day min, ~3-mo contracts). list day one.
- direct — hr / relocation desks at the four systems + the staffing agencies feeding them (amn, aya, cross country, va channels).
- seo — "[hospital] travel nurse housing albuquerque" landing pages.

product to build

- a furnished mid-term listing type with a distance-to-hospital badge and 1–13 mo terms.
- the stipend-aware savings widget (page 3), on every listing.
- a vett-ed-traveler profile: active-license check (nm bon / nursys), assignment letter, stipend income.
- a furnished guaranteed-rent quote variant for landlords (higher rent, lower default).

new mexico compliance

- broker licensing applies to leasing / managing for others — qualifying broker of record + trust accounting.
- lodging-tax lane: under-30-day stays can trigger gross receipts + local lodgers' tax; a 30-day minimum keeps units in the residential lane. verify with a nm cpa / attorney.
- tax-home rules are the traveler's responsibility — siesta shows accurate math and says "check with your agency / tax advisor," never gives tax advice.
- fair housing and source-of-income rules apply to screening.

honesty by design: quotes are indicative, verification runs through named partners, and no report is pulled without the traveler's authorization.

a concierge pilot that pays for its own data.

the pilot

- recruit 5–10 furnished units near the four hospitals.
- list on furnished finder + a siesta /healthcare page with the savings widget.
- stand up the vett-ed-traveler flow.
- place 3–5 travelers and run them end-to-end by hand.

what it proves

- the furnished rent premium vs unfurnished.
- the near-zero default of a stipend-backed payer.
- underwriting data for furnished guaranteed rent.
